Whereas, Indiana is one of the nation's leading agricultural states and benefits from an annual economic impact of more than $31.2 billion generated from agriculture;

Whereas, Most students today are several generations removed from the farm and do not appreciate the importance of agriculture nor understand where their food and fiber comes from or how it is produced;

Whereas, Increased understanding of agriculture allows individuals to make informed choices about nutrition and health for themselves and their families;

Whereas, The Indiana agriculture industry is a global leader and is committed to recognizing and celebrating the contributions of agriculture to our everyday lives, sharing the message of how agriculture contributes to our strong economy through the production of safe, abundant, and affordable food and fiber products, renewable energy, and agricultural career opportunities;

Whereas, Indiana Farm Bureau's Agriculture in the Classroom program strives to increase the agricultural literacy of all Hoosiers to promote an efficient, productive, and environmentally beneficial food and fiber system;

Chapter 4.5. Agreement Among the States to Elect the President by National Popular Vote

Sec. 1. The Agreement Among the States to Elect the President by National Popular Vote is enacted and entered into by the state of Indiana with all other states joining the agreement in the form substantially as set forth in section 2 of this chapter.

Sec. 2. Agreement Among the States to Elect the President by National Popular Vote.

Article I: Membership.

Any state of the United States may become a member of this agreement by enacting this agreement.

Article II: Right of the People in Member States to Vote for President and Vice President.

Each member state shall conduct a statewide popular election for President and Vice President of the United States.

Article III: Manner of Appointing Presidential Electors in Member States.

Before the time set by law for the meeting and voting by the presidential electors, the chief election official of each member state shall determine the number of votes for each presidential slate in each state of the United States in which votes have been cast in a statewide popular election and shall add such votes together to produce a national popular vote total for each presidential slate.

The chief election official of each member state shall designate the presidential slate with the largest national popular vote total as the national popular vote winner.

The presidential elector certifying official of each member state shall certify the appointment in that official's own state of the elector slate nominated in that state in association with the national popular vote winner.

At least six (6) days before the day fixed by law for the meeting and voting by the presidential electors, each member state shall make a final determination of the number of popular votes cast in the state for each presidential slate and shall communicate an official statement of such determination within twenty-four (24) hours to the chief election official of each other member state.

The chief election official of each member state shall treat as conclusive an official statement containing the number of popular votes in a state for each presidential slate made by the day established by federal law for making a state's final determination conclusive as to the counting of electoral votes by Congress.

If there is a tie for the national popular vote winner, the presidential elector certifying official of each member state shall certify the appointment of the elector slate nominated in association with the presidential slate receiving the largest number of popular votes within that official's own state.

If, for any reason, the number of presidential electors nominated in a member state in association with the national popular vote winner is less than or greater than that state's number of electoral votes, the presidential candidate on the presidential slate that has been designated as the national popular vote winner shall have the power to nominate the presidential electors for that state, and that state's presidential elector certifying official shall certify the appointment of such nominees. The chief election official of each member state shall immediately release to the public all vote counts or statements of votes as they are determined or obtained.

This article governs the appointment of presidential electors in each member state in any year in which this agreement is, on July 20, in effect in states cumulatively possessing a majority of the electoral votes.

Article IV: Other Provisions.

This agreement takes effect when states cumulatively possessing a majority of the electoral votes have enacted this agreement in substantially the same form and the enactments by such states have taken effect in each state.

Any member state may withdraw from this agreement, except that a withdrawal occurring six (6) months or less before the end of a President's term shall not become effective until a President or Vice President shall have been qualified to serve the next term.

The chief executive of each member state shall promptly notify the chief executive of all other states of when this agreement has been enacted and has taken effect in that official's state, when the state has withdrawn from this agreement, and when this agreement takes effect generally.

This agreement shall terminate if the electoral college is abolished.

If any provision of this agreement is held invalid, the remaining provisions are not affected.

Article V: Definitions.

Whereas, Upon being drafted, MLB.com analyst Bernie Pleskoff profiled Schwarber as a "game-changing" power-hitter, and ESPN's Keith Law echoed a similar sentiment in his draft profile, noting, "Schwarber might have the most raw power of any prospect in the class";

Whereas, Schwarber made his professional debut with the Boise Hawks three days later, going 3-4 with a home run and three RBIs, and the Cubs then promoted him to the Kane County Cougars of the Class A Midwest League and the Daytona Cubs of the Class A-Advanced Florida State League before the end of the season;

Whereas, Schwarber's three multihomer games are the most for a Cub rookie in his first 51 games played since 1914, and he finished the 2015 regular season having played 69 games, recording a .246 batting average with 16 home runs, 52 runs scored, and 43 RBIs;

Whereas, Despite having been injured in an outfield collision in April 2016, the Cubs added Schwarber to their roster for the 2016 World Series, and started him in Game 1 as their designated hitter;

Whereas, Schwarber hit a double off the right-field wall in the 4th inning of Game 1, and he became the first major league position player in baseball history to get his first hit of the season during the World Series;

Whereas, Schwarber and the Cubs defeated the Indians in seven games to claim the Cubs' first World Series championship in 108 years;

Whereas, During the World Series, Schwarber recorded seven hits, including one double, two RBIs, and one stolen base while batting for .412 and maintaining a .500 on-base percentage; and
