House Resolution 30

Representatives Eberhart and Lehman introduced House Resolution 30:

A HOUSE RESOLUTION urging the legislative council to assign to the appropriate study committee the topic of increasing employee access to and participation in retirement savings programs.

Whereas, Approximately 1.1 million Hoosiers, representing more than 47.7 percent of the state's private sector workforce, lack access to a retirement plan at work;

Whereas, Studies show that employees are fifteen times more likely to save for retirement when they have access to workplace savings plans;

Whereas, Social Security is the only source of income for three in ten Indiana residents age 65 plus;

Whereas, Social Security was intended to provide an income floor for individuals and was not designed to serve as a person's sole source of retirement income;

Whereas, On average, Indiana retirees receive about $1,308 a month from Social Security;

Whereas, The Employee Benefit Research Institute indicates that nearly half of Baby Boomers and Generation X-ers will lack the income to meet basic retirement expenses and health care costs;

Whereas, The aforementioned facts can be construed as a retirement security crisis that will have significant impacts on state services, state and local government budgets and revenues, and the economic well-being of retirees, their families, and our state and local communities; and

Whereas, Hoosier employee access to and participation in retirement savings programs should be thoroughly studied in the coming interim: Therefore,

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the State of Indiana:

SECTION 1. That the legislative council is urged to assign to the appropriate study committee the topic of Hoosier employee access to and participation in retirement savings programs, including hurdles to access and potential partnerships between the public and private sectors, to increase savings rates and improve financial security for Hoosier workers.

Whereas, In 1964 Aunt Dee sold the famous recipes to Garret Lowery's sister, Pauline (Lowery) Good, and her husband John;

Whereas, In 1965 Pauline and John Good began selling peanut brittle out of a converted garage on their turkey farm, and the Original Good's Candies was born;

Whereas, After Pauline's death in 1971, their daughter Nelda and her husband, Gerald Coon, moved the business to its present location on Main Street in Kennard;

Whereas, In 1981, after Nelda's death, their daughter Terry Vickery carried on the family tradition using the same hand dipping technique that Aunt Dee used;

Whereas, Terry and her father continued making candy together until his death in 1994;

Whereas, Terry's dedication to the business made it her full time career and her passion;

Whereas, Terry's son, Kevin Vickery, took over the business at the time of his mother's death in 2007 and is still honoring the same tradition of quality, hand dipped candy making today; and

Whereas, Good's Candies is a family tradition steeped in the tradition of the Hoosier dedication of hard work: Therefore,
